

Seashells Add That Special Touch

Contributed by Bella Prescott

Nothing says "beach wedding" like seashells, so it's only natural to want to use a variety of different shells to decorate your wedding. You can use large shells, small shells or a mix of the two - it's up to you. There are a number of shells available at the Beach Theme Wedding Shop and are perfect for anything you want to use them for.

Decorate your reception tables with shells.

Bring the seaside to your reception tables by scattering a few small shells like confetti on your linens or gather a group of larger shells in the middle of a table for a quick, beach theme centerpiece. You can easily accent the shells with vials of sand for your guests to take home or with tropical flowers - either silk or real.

Give shells as favors.

Shells are a wonderful, all natural favor that you can give your guests to help them remember your special day. Beach Theme Wedding Shop offers favor quality shells that will stand the test of time, so your guests can enjoy their gifts for years to come.

Incorporate shells into your boutennieres and bouquets.

A new wedding trend is sprinkling in a few well placed shells in a tropical flower bouquet in the same way more traditional brides incorporate sparkling rhinestones or pearls. These will give your beach wedding bouquet that special, unique touch you've been looking for.

No matter how you choose to use seashells, you can be confident that they'll make your beach theme wedding stand out from the crowd.
